

OFFERING OUR SUPPORT DURING THE COVID-19 CRISIS

Maintaining Business Continuity

Building stronger together

MAINTAINING BUSINESS CONTINUITY

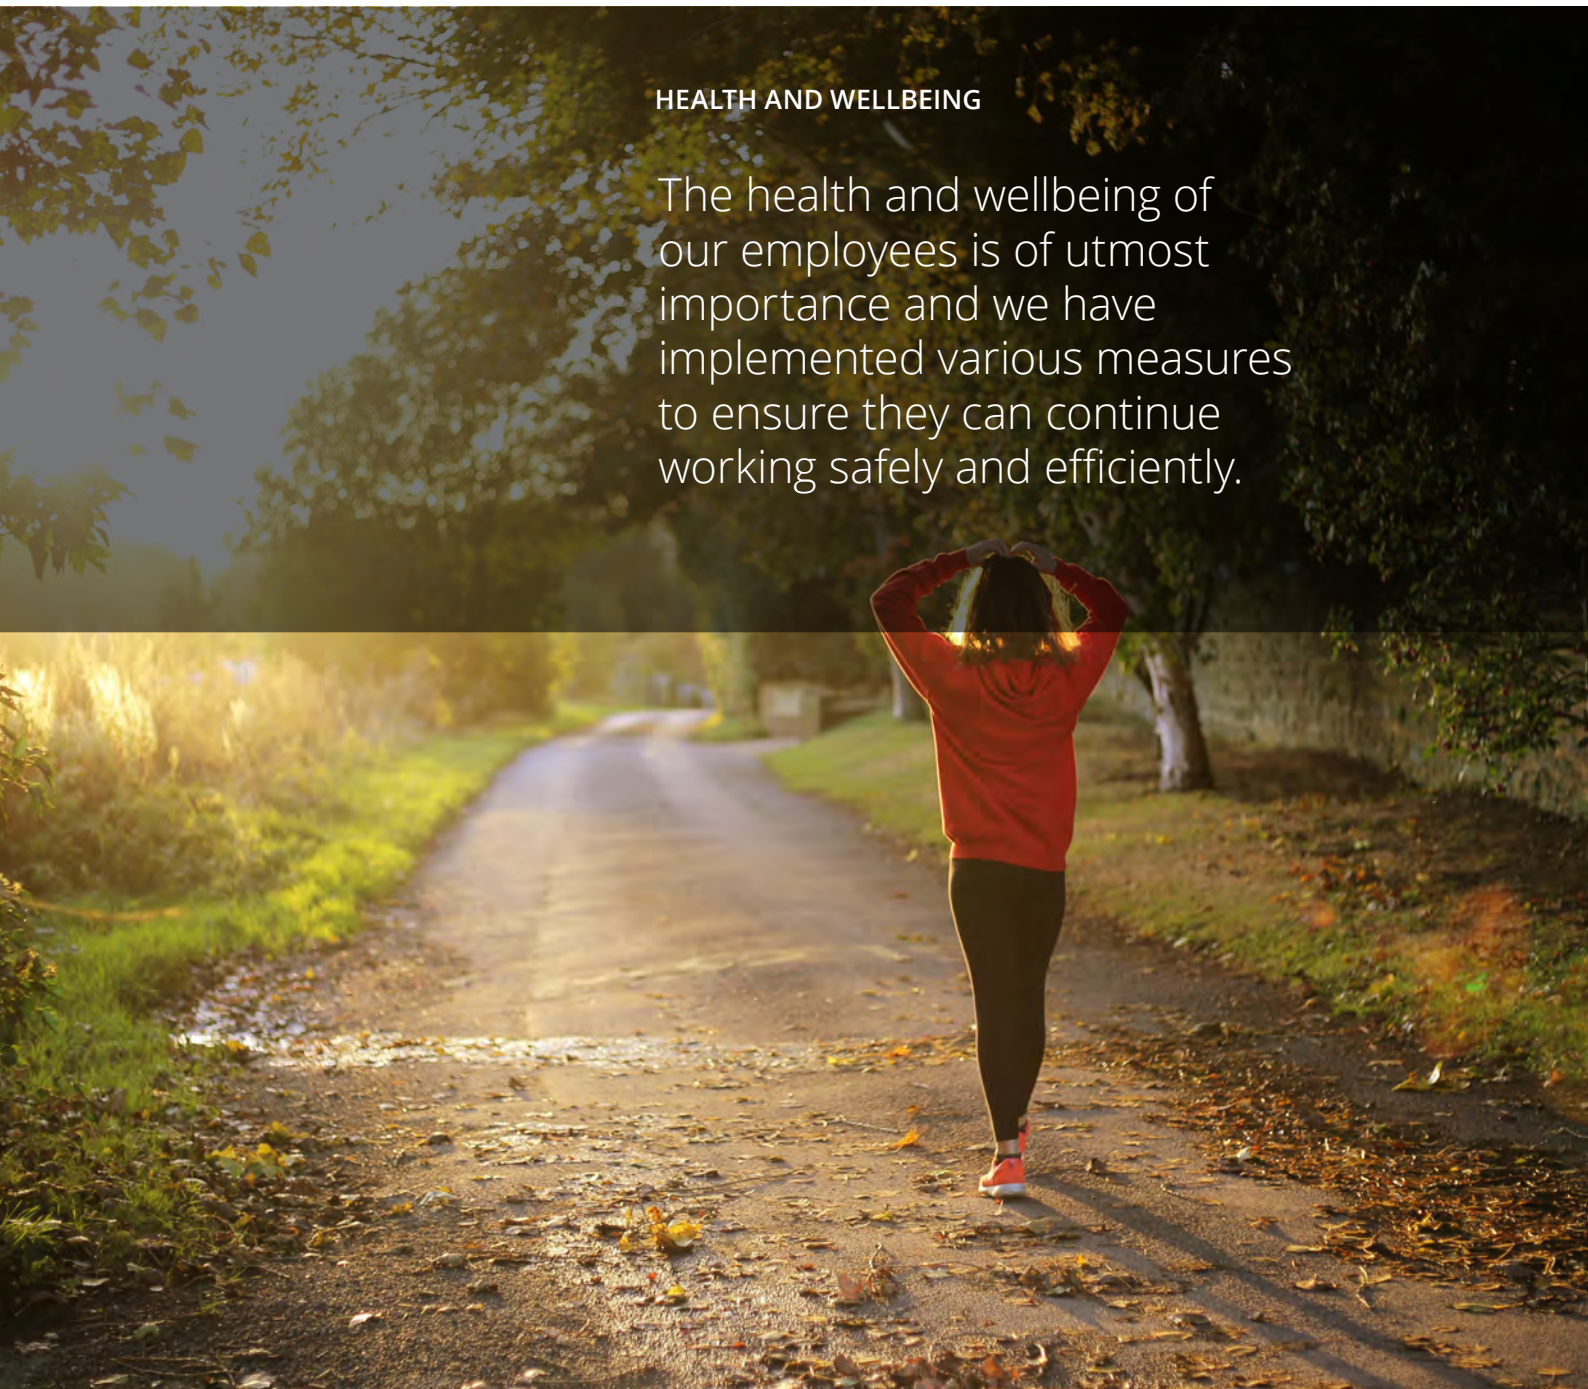

With COVID-19 continuing to pose issues in our industry, we would like to remind everyone that we have a strong support system in place for our employees, clients and our wider community.

This document outlines how Rund is responding to challenges posed by COVID-19 and how we are committed to continuing business as usual, where possible.

Our people

HEALTH AND WELLBEING

The health and wellbeing of our employees is of utmost importance and we have implemented various measures to ensure they can continue working safely and efficiently.

Working safely and efficiently

1

Remote working

Many of our employees are working remotely, with video conferencing in place to ensure internal and external meetings continue as usual.

Employee safety

We are ensuring employee safety during site visits by providing enhanced PPE equipment and advising strict social distancing measures on site.

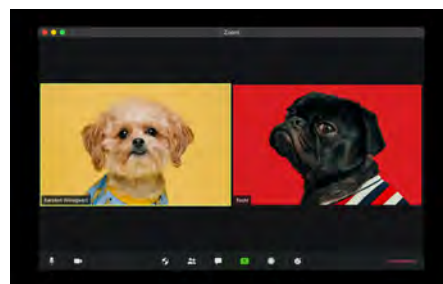

2

3

Communication

Regular COVID-related updates are being communicated to employees and work practices are continually being assessed by senior management to ensure we are adapting to the ever-changing situation.

Social wellbeing

We are setting up virtual social gatherings such as quizzes, helping bring the team together.

4

Our clients

HIGH QUALITY SERVICE

We are focused on being as agile and flexible as possible for our clients, so we can continue delivering a high quality of service.

Agile and flexible

Video conferencing

Offering video conferencing support to ensure that our team members are readily available for clients in a welcoming, 'human' format.

Communication

Being transparent in our communication to clients, clearly advising on additional measures that need to be taken as a result of COVID-19.

Resources

Continuing to offer our enhanced services across roles, with enough resource in place to ensure sufficient team support is available.

Working flexibly

We are continuing to work flexibly, offering new ways of working to support each client.

Delivering value

Our mission to deliver value remains key. We continue to work efficiently to meet project objectives.

Safety on sites

Our clerk of works are inspecting quality on sites, whilst observing social distancing. We are also advising on and monitoring COVID-19 safe working practices on behalf of our clients.

Our community

Helping others

We are committed to contributing to our local communities, who we recognise need support from businesses as many are working tirelessly to help combat the COVID-19 crisis.

We have set aside £10,000 to donate to charities which are local to our office areas, inviting employees to put forward their charities of choice.

We are also encouraging employees to take part in any volunteering activities that can help support their own local communities.
